

Posted: Nov 21, 2007 - 09:05:48 PST

Archived Story

Shopping spree

Karen and her daughter, Jenna Richards, were cut loose for three minutes in Price 'N Pride in Lincoln City Thursday to fill carts with all of the food they could grab.

Karen and her daughter, Jenna Richards, were cut loose for three minutes in Price 'N Pride in Lincoln City Thursday to fill carts with all of the food they could grab. Jenna, who had purchased five raffle tickets at Oceanlake Elementary School, where she is a fourth grader, received the winning ticket. The Richards threw $625 worth of groceries into three carts. All of the groceries were donated to the Backpack Program at Oceanlake School. The largest receipt ever acquired was $1,200 and the least amount was $250. The fundraiser brought in $3,300 for the school, minus the groceries, and will be used to pay for swimming lessons, field trips and possibly a new slide for the playground. (Photo by Kendall S. Cable)